

Article : EMPOWERING PARTICIPATION OF WOMEN IN RURAL DEVELOPMENT

Author : Prof. Chandrashekhar S. Malviya and Prof. Vijaykumar P. Tupe

INTRODUCTION :

Women's participation and empowering in rural development has been concern of serious and hard to believable in India. Today it is not only possible but also nothing any else possible without women's participation in any area. Now day women are aware about education, socio-economics, negotiation, rights and their development so that women are empowering day by day and participate in every developmental activity. In sector of rural area there are women participating an important role in socio-economic development in family and society as well as rural development. Government and much voluntary – non voluntary organization are supports and help rural women to their empowerment and development by formation of "Self Help Group", education and awareness programme. Now everybody know that no development without women's participation in rural and every area and women's are conscious it.

Contemporary Central and State Government are focus to rural women's empowerment and participation in development of rural area. All these efforts of Government, N.G.O. the rural women are empowering now and sharing the development activities in rural. She participate in S.H.G. meetings, Banking, Social and Economical affair, Rural Politics and Panchayataraj. Now day she actively participate in Gramsabha and Grampanchayat and question related rural development. The involvement of women's in every rural development activity like as decision making in Gramsabha and Grampanchayat for developmental and welfare work, the process of rural development is faster. Contemporary participation of women's is not so but it is start now and women are conscious it about their contribution in rural development. Day by day women are increasing their participation in rural empowerment by awaking their right, justice and alertness about education, health, socio-economics affaire and collective decision making in rural development.

OBJECTIVE :

- To know empowerment process of women in rural.
- To study the women's participation in rural development.
- To describe involvement of women's in various rural development activities.

SAMPLING :

The sample constitutes '108' rural females which are habitant in Narkhed and Katol Tal. at Nagpur rural. Researcher use 'Field or Survey' random sample method in this study.

TOOLS AND METHOD OF INVESTIGATION :

In this scientific investigation, researcher here used interviews and contents analysis method which closely related scientific operations. These operations involve to investigation design, data compile, samples design and data processing, and so that researcher helps to collecting the desired result. The design of scientific investigation is analytical and descriptive study on the 'Empowering participation of women's in rural development'.

DISCUSSION AND RESULTS :

By scientific investigation it is found that the rate of women empowerment increasing day by day in rural area. She empowers their-self by help of Government and N.G.O. work which support to S.H.G. formation and operation, awaking their right, justice and development. She realized their potentials and involve in various programme and activity of rural development process. Women actively participate in rural politics, Gramsabha and Grampanchayat meetings collective decision, socio-economical schemes and others developmental activity. She organized a pressure group in nature of their S.H.G. and empowering her-self socio-economically as well as she tries to keep alertness in social welfare administration in rural structure.

Now day she manipulates all the business of rural welfare by directing, controlling and coordination in Panchayataraj. Contemporary women are identified their capacities and makes remarkable development in their socio-economical and negotiations empowerment. So that it is much needful to their quality engagement in rural development planning, budget and operations for smooth and faster welfare work.

Reference :

1. Central Social Welfare, (May, 2003), Quarterly, Central Social Welfare, New Delhi
2. Journal of Social Research, Vol. - 2, Sept., 1962, Ranchi.
3. Khaperde DR. Sudarshan, Panchayatraj system, Nagpur pbication, Nagpur.
4. lakhodiya DR. Chotelal, 1997, Rising women's in Panchayat system, Maruti publication, Meruth.
5. Meshram Mahendrakumar, 2004, Karbharani, Nagpur pbication, Nagpur
6. Pawar Urmila & M. Moon, Aamheehi Itihas Ghadavila, Sgawa Publication, pune
7. Rajasattemadhil Karbharani, 2004, Mahila Rajsatta Andolan, Maharashtra.
8. Rajyakrity Aarakhada, 2005, Yashawantrao Chavhan Administration & development Academi, Pune.
9. Women's development policy, 2001, Yashawantrao Chavhan Administration & development Academi, Pune.
10. Women Empowerment in India, (U.G.C. Spons. National Seminar) 2010, Souvenir, Dept. of Sociology, N. H. College, Bramhapuri, Chandrapur.