Role Of Media In Indian Democracy: An Evaluation

Dr. Mohd. Raufa

ABSTRACT:

The TITLE matches with the contents of the paper Freedom of press or media is very important for political liberty and proper functioning of democracy. As everyone has a right of speech and expression so does media have. Democracy can thrive not only under vigilant eye of its legislature, but also under the care and guidance of public opinion and the media is par excellence, the vehicle through which opinion can become articulate. Media is meant for the society, it works in such a way to bring truth in front of public.

INTRODUCTION:

Author introduced the topic neatly and clearly The freedom of speech and expression means the right to express one's own idea freely by words of mouth, writing, printing, pictures or by any other mode that is visible representation such as gesture, sign etc. The freedom of speech and expression includes fundamental rights of freedom of media or press, is a liberty to express not only own views but includes to express the views of other peoples also. Media of India consists of several different types of communications media: television, radio, cinema, web sites.
